Ivory Soap and Crisco Manufactory Coming

Cincinnati Corporation Purchase Fifty Acres of Inner Harbor Waterfront

Through the efforts of the Richmond Industrial Commission, and especially those of that active member of the organization, Joseph J. Moran, an industrial plant has been added to the long list of Richmond's, one that will rival the big Standard Oil Co. in point of number of employees.

The Proctor & Gamble Co. of Cincinnati, manufacturers of Ivory Soap and Crisco, have taken an option on fifty acres of land at the northern extremity of the inner harbor, on which it is proposed to build a $3,000,000 plant, to be completed within the next two years.

The Proctor & Gamble Co. employ 3000 men at their big Cincinnati plant, and it is said that an equal number of employees will be on the Richmond payroll within three years, and that 500 will be employed from the start.

It is said the company will start at once to dredge, bulkhead and fill, improving the 50 acres acquired for the immediate construction of the plant.

The plant will rival that of the New York factory, the corporation having three, including the proposed Richmond terminal, the plan being to divert all the Pacific coast shipping through Richmond, and eliminating Seattle, which city has heretofore had this business.

San Francisco Postoffice Employees Large Force

San Francisco postoffice employs 583 clerks, 400 carriers, 40 laborers and watchmen and 75 substitute clerks; also 75 substitute carriers. This force of employees, approximately 1200 persons, will receive an advance in salaries by an act of congress of nearly $50,000 per month. Postoffice employees have always been poorly paid.

The Terminal is on file in all the public libraries in Contra Costa county and has hundreds of readers.

Los Angeles Largest Tourist City on Coast

The census bureau at Washington yesterday reported the population of Los Angeles at 575,480, a gain in ten years of 80.3 per cent. San Francisco's population was given as 508,410, an increase of 21.9 per cent.

With the consolidation of the Eastbay cities, San Francisco's population would near the million mark.

Veale Says It's Johnson

Sheriff R. R. Veale, who is attending the big convention show in the Windy City by Lake Michigan, telegraphs home that it looks like "Johnson." As the little General has always been considered A-1 authority in forecasting events, political, Californians may look for a "clean sweep" by their aggressive candidate, who has "em going and in line for a "stampede."

PERSONAL MENTION

John Regello, the obliging teller at the First National Bank, is doing the beaches at Venice and vicinity, with Los Angeles as headquarters. His southern engagement ends in two weeks.

Mrs. Bert Drulev of Richmond, Indiana, is visiting her brother, F. S. Crowe of 311 Macdonald avenue.

J. Fitzgerald, who met the misfortune to have a foot crushed at the Western Pipe and Steel plant in Richmond last February, visited old friends here yesterday. He is still at St. Mary's hospital, San Francisco, but will soon be able to leave for his home in Richmond.

Big Stege Acid Plant to Be Completed in September

The one million dollar sulphuric acid plant now being constructed at Stege will be completed in September.

The plant will produce sulphuric acid through what is known as the "contact system."

This system, it is said, will increase the output of the plant to 100 tons per day, the present capacity being 25 tons. Fifty men will be employed.

Tax Refund Amounts to $1055

Upon petition of Attorney H. E. Jacobs, the supervisors Monday refunded to Harry Wernse the sum of $1055 paid for county taxes upon the Canal Subdivision. This land has been declared navigable water by the United States government. A similar fund will be asked of the city of Richmond.

A Call to Americans

Henry P. Davison, chairman of the Board of Governors, League of Red Cross Societies, gives us some information on the European situation. In his call to Americans, he says:

"We are going to find out that we cannot no more escape the influence of the European situation of today than we were able to escape the war itself. You cannot have one half of the world starving and the other half eating. We must help out Europe on its feet or we must participate in Europe's misery. Let it be admitted, if you will, that neither Wilson nor Roosevelt has had the right to speak for the idealism of America; it still remains true that a man is lying wounded by the roadside. He is stripped of his raiment, he is half dead, and America (rich and prosperous), is passing by on the other side."

STIFF COLLAR IS VANISHING

Possibility That Man Will Be Emancipated From the Slavery of the Starched Abomination.

"White collar men," comprising that class of workers which "dresses up" when it goes to work, seem to have succumbed to the lucrative allurements of washing windows or driving milk wagons or else is becoming too poor to buy 40-cent white stiff collars, according to reports from two highly authoritative sources, says the New York Evening Sun.

A Newark marriage license clerk with a statistical turn of mind says that "white-collar men" apparently have stopped getting married. Haberdashers say that they have become a diminishing race.

Sartorial history shows that the man who seeks to be well dressed has been the slave of the starched white collar ever since ruffles went out of fashion and—with the possible exception of the Elizabethan fluted affair—they have been growing more uncomfortable with each generation.

For the last four or five years the unstarched collar has been becoming more and more familiar. Originally introduced for summer or sporting wear, it has proved itself too comfortable to be cast aside when winter comes. Added to the desire for comfort, dealers say it is much less expensive not only in its purchase price, but in durability. Many modern laundries ruin stiff collars in three or four ironings, while the soft collar may easily be ironed at home or even by a bachelor if necessary.

Overwhelming Eudition. Unto a massive book I cling With stout and patient hand. The more I try to read the thing The less I understand.

Old John Barlycorn Is Down and Out; No Hope

The Eighteenth amendment and its enforcement measure known as the Volstead Act, were upheld by the Supreme Court as being constitutional in a decision handed down Monday. The court dismissed the petitions filed by Rhode Island asking that federal officials be restrained from enforcing prohibition. The court also dismissed the injunction brought by the state of New Jersey in which it was sought to prevent the enforcement of the prohibition measure in that state.

An injunction to prevent federal officials from interfering with a manufacturing firm in Wisconsin engaged in the marketing of beer of more than one-half of one per cent was also dismissed.

Court Papers Were Not Stolen—Found

The court records supposed to have been stolen from the office of Justice McCausland in San Pablo, were found among other papers pigeonholed in the office desk.

To Hang Up Electric Sign "Richmond"

The long talked of and much advertised electric sign to be installed at the junction of the highway and Cutting will be in place the first of July. The sign will bear the word "Richmond," dimensions 2 x 30 feet, the cost of which will be approximately $500.

The San Rafael Ferry Co. will suspend a sign underneath the city's sign, their advertisement by permission of the city council. This may establish a precedence for the other ferry companies to attach their respective solicitations for business to the city's big sign.

Highway Signs For Contra Costa County

The board of supervisors at their meeting Monday ordered highway signs for the principal roads of the county. The state automobile association will co-operate in the expense of installing the signs. The cost of the signs when placed will be $4.50 each.

HE'S HAD HIS LAST WAR.

"Do you think there will be another war?" "I don't know. But one thing I'm sure of, if there is, Kaiser Bill won't be the man to start it."

LITTLE BOOSTERS

O. N. Williams and William D. Waldorf have opened the Western Grill at 336 Second street.

Shinola Lodge No. 1267 will put on another class initiation stunt at the July 5 meeting. "Kid" Annett says that Shinola's work is wonderful.

Percy Neal says "Bill" Coleman is "taking a vacation or a trip—the distinction between the two, Bill says he cannot "quite get."

The arrangements for the Fourth of July celebration are nearing completion. It will be one "grand and glorious Fourth for Richmond."

San Francisco Brewers Turn Out Soft Drinks

San Francisco had 12 breweries, now it has 6. The Acme, Enterprise, Milwaukee, Tacoma, Rainier and Wiclands are still operating, but manufacture near beer, which contains the "one half of one." The demand for this article is 50 per cent less than for the original lager with a "kick."

The breweries which shut down on the advent of the dry law are the Hibernia, Jackson, Albany, North Star, Eagle and Anchor.

"Sooner or Later"

Two Oakland theatres announce the two Moores on their respective screens—that of Tom Moore in "Duds," and also Owen Moore in "Sooner or later." If the latter Moore is the "same guy," (that of Nevada fame), he "got his later," which may have been satisfactory all around.

Richmond Elks Plan Flag Day Program

Exalted Ruler George Fredenburg has announced the program for Flag Day, which will be observed by 1251 Sunday at the lodge rooms, 10th and Macdonald. Attorney W. H. L. Hynes of Oakland will deliver the address. Attorney Clare D. Horner will read the history of the flag and Attorney T. H. DeLap will deliver a fitting tribute to the flag. Local vocalists and a good orchestra will fill out the program.

Berkeley lodge of Elks will celebrate Flag Day Sunday at 2:30 at their spacious reception rooms in the Elks building. Dr. F. W. Russell will deliver the patriotic address.

TROUBLE AHEAD.

"Doesn't that annoy you?" asked the visitor, as Mr. Cobbles carefully turned his flivver to one side of the road and let a big car whirl past in a cloud of dust.

"Nope, it don't bother me none to speak of," answered Mr. Cobbles, with a chuckle. "There's a ramshackle bridge down th' road a piece. I know 'all about it, but th' feller in that car don't know about it an' he's liable to be singin' mighty small when we get to him."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

NOT SERIOUSLY TROUBLED.

"Did you hear about that French war bride who had nervous prostration because of the high cost of living and American extravagance?" "Yes, but she's only one among several thousand. All the others seem to be bearing up remarkably well, considering how much we've heard about French thrift."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

AFRICAN COAL FIELDS.

Coal deposits of great extent and good quality have been found in Portuguese East Africa. British financiers already have acquired exclusive mining rights until 1940, and perpetual rights to all registered mines, in a tract of more than 25,000 square miles along the Zambesi.

DRESS REFORM.

Hardfax—Shocking things, these tight skirts, aren't they? Peewee—I dunno. My wife used to make all my pants out of her cast-offs, but there's not enough stuff in one of these new scanty skirts to make me as much as a vest.

"Do you believe in miracles?" "Certainly, I do. My husband asked me this morning if I did not need a new hat."

Eastbay Is Still After Elusive Naval Base

City Clerk of Berkeley to Resign July First

A. G. Briggs, city clerk of Berkeley will resign his office July 1 to accept the position of assistant state superintendent of banks.

Teachers in Demand Salaries Advanced

According to information given out by Will C. Wood, state superintendent of public instruction, 200 school districts must suspend this year on account of a dearth of teachers. In 1919 there was a lapse of 43 districts. This is an increase of over 500 per cent. Teachers cannot be secured to go to isolated schools, preferring the more populous and attractive centers.

Miss Kreuger, teacher in the Albany kindergarten schools, has accepted a position in the Richmond schools. Miss Kreuger is a former graduate of the Richmond high school.

NOT THE REAL "SHEEPSKIN"

Graduation Diplomas Are Now Made of a Substitute That Is Called "Just as Good." The 116 Penn State graduates who have just been sent out in the special "war class" at the midyear exercises, start their life work unarmed with the usual sheepskin diploma, according to State College News.

The "high cost of graduation" makes it impossible for the college to indulge in the luxury of the genuine "sheepskin" parchment at this time, and it is necessary to use an imitation parchmentized paper for all diplomas. All recent graduating classes have been fortunate enough to receive the genuine article through the foresightfulness of Registrar A. H. Espenshade. He "saw the war coming" and several years ago laid in a large supply of sheepskin for the purpose. But this is now exhausted and Penn State has to join the long list of colleges and universities that have found it necessary to cut down this expense. So, instead of a fee of $12 for the graduate certificate, Penn State's war class is getting off with less than one-third of that amount and with a "dip" that is just as good as the genuine "sheep."

RIVER YIELDS TREASURE.

In the soft beds of mud that line so many of Brazil's sluggish rivers, the plant aninga grows so profusely that an estimated total of 100,000 tons could be exported annually. The aninga is now known as the raw material from which cellulose is obtained for the manufacture of linen paper; but recent experiments show that the fibers may be transformed chemically into an artificial cotton fiber of structure even superior to that of the genuine article. One mill is now busy with this new work, while efforts are being made to adopt abandoned sugar mills to the process.

MONTANA LAND OF HONEY.

Montana, long one of the haunts of the grizzly bear, is threatening to become a leading honey state. Official statistics show that $300,000 worth of honey was shipped from one district last year. One beekeeper, it is said, cleared $10,000, while many ranchers were stung because of the drought.

New Commission May Look Upon Us With Favor Next Fall

Joseph E. Caine, managing director of the Oakland Chamber of Commerce, who recently returned from Washington where he went in the interests of the eastbay cities for the naval base site, it was learned that $100,000 has been appropriated by congress for a new investigating commission, who are required to report before the last day of December next as to the most feasible site for a proposed naval base in San Francisco bay.

The commission will be composed of three senators, three representatives and three admirals. It remains to be seen whether this new commission will endorse the recommendation of the former commission, or whether the Richmond-Albany site will get a "re-hearing" and finally win the much coveted prize which has hung fire so long.

Parking Ordinance

The new parking ordinance regulating traffic on Macdonald avenue, which was referred to the street and ordinance committee at the city council meeting a week ago, was left in the hands of the committee for another week at the council meeting Monday night.

Standard Avenue in Bad Shape

Standard avenue is in bad condition, and unless improvements are soon under way, the winter rains will play havoc with the traffic on this much used thoroughfare. The improvements are estimated to cost $8800. The new culverts are to be installed and old ones repaired in advance of the permanent surface work to the street.

Burg Brothers in Big Land Deal

Through the closing of a $2,000,000 land transfer, Burg Bros., the pioneer realty brokers, have acquired property in Richmond and Alameda county known as the Watkinson estate, comprising five of the most important subdivisions in the city—the Central Richmond, Key, Pullman, Townsite, Grandview Terrace and the Civic Center tracts. The present city hall was erected on the latter tract.

BOY SCOUTS

INTERPRETING SCOUT OATH

There is something about that scout oath and law of ours that puts the iron in the blood and the steel into the soul, says Richard Brauenstein of Sharon, Conn.

Just think what the result will be when every boy of scout age in the land begins to interpret that oath and law in his daily life, his walk and talk. We will be giving the world what Professor James calls "the moral equivalent of war."

This learned man said, "The martial character can be bred without war." He tells us that the military ideals of hardihood and discipline can be inbred into the life of young America, by conscripting every man into the struggle with nature.

"To coal and iron mines, to freight trains, to fishing fleets in December, to road building and stone holes and to the frames of skyscrapers would our gilded youth be drafted to get the childishness knocked out of them and to come back to society with healthier sympathies and soberer ideas."

It was Tennyson who wrote, "Peace hath her victories no less renowned than war." And in that oath and law of ours I see potentialities, sublimities, majesties, achievements.

SCOUT SMILE HIS UNIFORM.

"A scout has two uniforms. One he seldom dons," writes Colin H. Livingston, president of the Boy Scouts of America. "The other he oftentimes dons. The first is a clean and smiling face, the evidence of a clear conscience and a healthy body, a wonderful invitation to everyone around to look and be happy and cheerfully to do their bit. This smile is subtle and far-reaching in its influence."

"It is a sign of self-conquest, an emblem of leadership, compelling attention in its radiation of cheerfulness. Scouts, this uniform of yours is not made in a loom, but made in the heart and worn to make the world brighter and better and worn to show everyone that in your mind and life there is hope, happiness, kindness and the courage to look, to say and to act the pledges you made at the moment you promised to be a scout, to be a leader."

"Go forth, Scouts, with this smile, to win for your plan of life others who will smile with you. Never take off the uniform of the smile."

"IT CANNOT BE DONE."

Somebody said "It couldn't be done." But the scout, with a chuckle, replied that maybe it couldn't but he would be one.

Who wouldn't say so till he'd tried. So he buckled right in, with a trace of a grin. And he started to sing as he tackled the thing that couldn't be done, and he did it.

Somebody scoffed, "Oh, you'll never do that; at least no one ever has done it." The scout took his coat off and took off his hat.

And the first thing we know he'd begun it. With the lift of his chin and a bit of a grin. He started to sing as he tackled the thing that couldn't be done, and he did it.

There are thousands to tell you it cannot be done. There are thousands to prophesy failure. There are thousands to give you the lie, one by one.

Of dangers that wait to assail you. But take off your coat and take off your hat. Just start in to sing as you tackle the thing that cannot be done and you'll do it.

—J. SCOTT CASE.

SCOUT WINS AUSTRIAN FLAG.

The announcement of prize winners in the army essay contest was made by the army board of adjudication in the New York district, which has selected the prize essays from among those submitted by boy scouts.

Walter A. Hehrig, sixteen-year-old scout of Morris high school and a scout in Troop No. 140 of the Bronx, was awarded the chief honors, his essay being selected as the winning one for the entire district and for the Borough of the Bronx.

The prize as district winner is an Austrian flag, brought to this country as a war trophy by an English Red Cross officer. As borough winner he has won for his school a silk American flag, which will be awarded by a war veterans' organization.

SCOUTS LOCATE LOST CHILD.

When neighbors were about to give up the search for a two-year-old boy who had wandered into the woods near his home, the scouts of Naugatuck, Conn., were called to carry on the search, and after working well into the night they found the child.

COTTON SOARS $5 A BALE; CROP IS LOWEST IN YEARS

New Orleans, La.—Cotton jumped $5 a bale June 2 in the first ten minutes of trading after a delay of three hours in opening the exchange, while waiting for formal approval by President Wilson of a resolution amending the agricultural bill. The Government crop report, showing the lowest May 25 condition on record, caused exciting buying. Prices advanced 92 to 100 points.

Washington—Reporting the condition of the cotton crop on May 25 at 62.4 per cent of normal, the Department of Agriculture announced that this was the lowest in its record of fifty years and that the recurring statement, "worst ever known," was confirmed.

Washington—President Wilson signed a joint resolution eliminating from the agricultural appropriation bill the Comer amendment affecting cotton futures grades which through a clerical error was included in the original measure.

'SENATE MEXICO SCHEME MEANS WAR'—GOMPERS

Labor Leader Says Action Proposed by Committee Would Bring Strife

Washington—Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, declared in a formal statement June 3 that a war between the United States and Mexico would result if the recommendations of the Senate committee which investigated the Mexican affairs were carried out. Gompers said:

"The report of the Senate subcommittee investigating conditions in Mexico under the chairmanship of Senator A. B. Fall amounts to a declaration that unless the Mexican Government rewrites its constitution in accord with the idea of the American oil and mining interests the Government of the United States will 'intervene' in Mexico."

"The report of Senator Fall's committee demands a number of specified changes in the Mexican constitution. These changes would be the consummation of what has been long the hopes of the great oil and mining interests, as well as the land and timber interest, which have fomented the bitterness between the people of the United States and Mexico."

"In some minor particulars recommendations made by Senator Fall's committee may be acceptable, but the heart of the report can only be described as vicious. The report demands that unless the Mexican constitution is altered as recommended the Government of the United States 'send a police force, consisting of the naval and military forces of our Government, into the republic of Mexico to open and maintain open every line of communication between the City of Mexico and every seaport and border port in Mexico.'"

"Those who know Mexico and the Mexican people understand fully that such action would mean war between the two countries."

Labor Party After Candidate

The American Federation of Labor has more than 3000 local campaign committees at work and is supplying them with information concerning those members of Congress whom it is planned to unseat. The Federation will issue a statement from Washington headquarters saying that its campaigns in 32 states to elect senators have been organized.

"Where is this picture of the prize hen to go in the paper?"

"I suppose they will put it in the layout."—Baltimore American.

Mr. Bedesen was born in Rhenish Prussia, March 15, 1843, and came to America with his mother and stepfather when 13 years old. The family settled in Aurora, Illinois. After a number of years of adventurous moves, during which young Bedesen lived in Colorado and Missouri, he went to Montana, where he met John Banks, who was to be his business partner for many years.

After many moves, Banks and Bedesen came to Merced in 1875, and established the butcher shop which still bears their name. Banks passed away in 1898, thus closing a partnership of 36 years. His partner will sleep by his side in Asphodel cemetery, which they both helped to found, and of which Mr. Bedesen was the last surviving association member.

Mr. Bedesen is survived by his wife, whom he married in St. Joseph, Missouri, in 1865; and by the following sons and daughters: Mrs. J. Max Landrum Livingston; Mrs. W. M. Conley, Madera; J. A. Bedesen, Merced; Frederick Bedesen, Merced, and William Bedesen, Merced.

EASY MONEY, BUT WHY WOULDN'T PAY IT?

San Francisco—Private John J. Caston, medical department, hitherto stationed at Ft. Winfield Scott, is undergoing six months' imprisonment at hard labor at the Army disciplinary barracks at Alcatraz, to which he was sentenced by court-martial for attempting to aid recruits to evade triple typhoid prophylaxis treatment, to which the Army subjects its members.

According to the testimony, Private Caston charged recruits $3 each for pretending to apply the treatment. He merely painted the arm of the patient in imitation of the marks of treatment.

GIRL STUDENTS IN WILD CAPERS ATOP TABLES

Vie With Cafe Entertainers in Daring Stunts in Fraternity House

San Francisco—Six young women, dressed in the garb of September Morn, dancing atop of tables to the tune of wild music and the popping of corks from champagne bottles, brought about the suspension of six prominent members of the Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity, University of California, according to a statement issued June 3 by the office of President Barrows.

As a result of the affair the University of California chapter of the fraternity may lose its charter, and the future standing of all fraternities and sororities is imperiled. President Barrows has made representations to the national officers of the Delta Kappa Epsilon, which may result in the withdrawal of the charter at the University and the closing of the fraternity house.

The party was held at the Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity house, at Telegraph and Durant avenues, shortly after the closing of the college semester three weeks ago, but did not come to light until the issuance of President Barrows' statement June 3. It is definitely known that two University men and two girls have been told that they are not to return to college next semester, while two others have been suspended pending an investigation of their cases.

The names of the students have not been made public. The "Dekes" are all sons of prominent California families.

Upwards of fifty attended the "party," which was featured by the popping of corks and semi-nude Diannas. It is alleged that all were not "Dekes," but that many of the midnight revelers were campus celebrities from other fraternities.

Residents in the neighborhood of the fraternity house were awakened in the small hours of the morning by shouting and singing, which did not cease, they say, until sunrise.

The fashionable Cambridge Apartments, directly across the street from the fraternity house, was furnished a rare entertainment by the "goings on." The official complaint to President Barrows was made by Mrs. Lulu M. Cowan, manager of the Apartment house, and the law firm of Ellison, Clark & Nichols, representing the owners.

The complaint was laid before the Student Affairs Committee of the University, headed by Dean C. L. Cory, and resulted in letters to the parents of four students—two men and two women—asking that the students be not returned to the university.

"On one of the last nights of the term scandalous behavior occurred at one of the fraternity houses which had been closed for the summer. Two members of the fraternity were particularly offensive."

"Before departing for the East, President Barrows, thoroughly investigated the matter. The parents of the students involved were notified of the fact and of the unwillingness of the university to readmit the students involved."

"The future of the house is being made the subject of consultation with the national fraternity."

The Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity is one of the largest and most popular of all of the college organizations in America. Many prominent men are numbered among its members. The University of California chapter numbers among its members the sons of several prominent California families and is one of the most popular on the campus.

The revelries in question started at an early hour and before the evening was far advanced had developed into a regular orgy. It is said. With the opening of more bottles the revelry increased and only ended with the Bachannalian danced by the almost nude women.

BAY MACHINISTS RETURN TO JOBS IN SHIPYARDS

San Francisco—Machinists in the bay district shipyards and other shops who have been on strike continuously since October 1, June 3 at a largely attended meeting in the Valencia Theater voted by nearly 4 to 1 to return to work at once.

When the strike began last autumn the yards virtually shut down for a time, but reopened November 24 with reduced crews. The vote stood 800 for returning to work and 230 against.

Conditions of the return include retention of the old wage scale of $6.40 a day, with a graduated increase beginning the first of next month, the men to return to work next Monday.

BILL INTRODUCED TO CUT PRESIDENT'S PAY TO $50,000

Washington—A bill providing for reduction of the salary of the President of the United States from $75,000 to $50,000 a year was introduced June 3 by Senator Smith, Democrat, Georgia. Senator Smith also introduced a resolution proposing an amendment to the Constitution which would limit the President to one term of six years.

THE SANDMAN STORY

KNUT'S GOLDEN ROAD

ONCE upon a time there lived a princess whose father ruled over a very wild and strange country, for the people knew nothing of many things of which we have use. They dressed in fine cloth, but had no shoes. The men had never learned to tan leather. So all, even the royal family, went about barefooted.

Of course, the stones hurt the tender feet of the princess, so a carpenter made her clogs, or wooden shoes. But these were so heavy she seldom walked.

Out in the mountains about five miles away was young Knut, a shepherd boy, who dried skins for rugs. He dyed the wool all sorts of beautiful colors and sold them at the castle.

One day he brought to the palace a very large rug made from the skin of a huge mountain sheep. It was

As it was spread out on the floor of the great hall the princess came running by. She stood on the rug and smiled with delight at its softness.

"I wish I had a rug like this to cover the whole land," laughed the princess. "It would be fun to play out of doors then. I wish I could make all the woods in the kingdom nice and soft and all of a golden color."

The idea took such a hold of her that she went and asked the king to proclaim a great reward to anyone making such rugs in his country. The old king smiled, thinking such an impossible request too absurd to notice.

But the princess, grew thin and unhappy, so at last he consented to proclaim throughout the kingdom that he would give any reward asked to the one who would accomplish what the princess desired.

Knut heard of the announcement made by the king. As he sat in his hut and played the flute he thought of the lovely princess whom he had met. And he wished with all his heart that he could earn the reward, for what he would ask would be not gold, but her hand.

Out in his backyard there was a puddle of dark water which had drained down from some wood shavings. And into it had fallen some weeks before a bit of sheepskin, and there it had lain undisturbed. Knut picked it up. It was smooth and not at all like the fresh skin.

He patted and dried and smoothed the skin, having first washed off the woolly side with hot water and soap. Then he rubbed the skin with a sweet oil till it was soft and pliant. Before him in the damp sand he saw the print of his foot.

"I will make a covering for the princess' foot of this skin," he said aloud. "I will have the wool turned inside, having first dyed it a golden hue. That will keep her feet warm and prevent rocks from hurting her. And this outside skin will wear against the ground and stones."

So, first dyeing the wool a lively yellow, he wrought with his bone needle a lovely pair of shoes. The skin, which was now leather, was on the outside. On the inside was the clean wool, a beautiful golden tint. The next day he went to the palace and presented them to the princess.

"Put these on your feet," he said, "then you can run about over stones and dirt without being hurt. Your road through life will be a golden one; every step you take you will tread on golden softness."

The delighted princess ran to show the king her present, and in a few days the lad had orders to make leather shoes for the king and court. Then the whole nation got shoes. The princess wedded Knut, who had asked for her hand, and at the feast she wore her first golden shoes.

THE SCARCITY OF CAPITAL

The credit situation all over the world shows signs of the increasing pressure for money. The Bank of England discount rate was raised from 6 to 7 per cent, the Bank of France from 5 to 6, the Bank of Sweden rate 6 to 7, the Bank of Finland from 7 to 8, the Bombay rate from 8 to 9. The Bank of Japan rate has been at 8 per cent since last November.

With production limited due to short hours lowered labor efficiency, and with the people trying to buy more goods than there are in existence, and seeking in desperation to make credit take the place of capital in production, there is great pressure on the banks for accommodations. They have been doing their best to stem the tide and hold this nation on an even keel. The rise in bank rates represents an effort to check the further inflation of credit. The age old law of work or starve will eventually bring the world up with a quick jerk.

MUCH BUILDING PLANNED

Demand for homes, farm and business buildings has forced a building campaign despite the prevailing high prices of materials. New houses are under construction and new business houses are also being built.

Building is a mark of the country's growth and progress. Vacant houses are things of the distant past and the problem has been to provide enough shelter to keep the newcomers protected.

Last summer building was almost at a standstill, as it was anticipated that prices of materials had reached the high level and would soon come down. Prices of lumber at retail have declined from 8 to 10 per cent, quotations being issued by some dealers. Contractors have taken a brace and are beginning to lay plans for greater activity during the summer. "We received quotations carrying a 10 per cent general reduction in all grades of lumber," said one of the prominent lumber dealers.

DON'T WASTE GASOLINE

The popularity of the automobile, the truck, and the tractor, has revolutionized modern industry. If anything should happen to cut off the supply of gasoline, the resulting inconvenience, loss and distress would be as great as could be caused by a general strike on the railways. Hence the fear alone of a shortage is enough to cause thinking people to give the matter the gravest consideration.

Improved processes of cracking the molecules of crude oil have enabled refiners very greatly to increase the yield of gasoline per unit of crude. Had this improvement not taken place, an acute condition would long ago have overtaken the automobile industry. The increasing use of gasoline has already run ahead of the supply, and measures must be taken to cut off waste. Every gallon wasted means that much potential power evaporating without its doing a share of the world's work.

Now that John Bareycorn has received a solar plexus, it would seem that our "drinking troubles" should end. But a water famine is now confronting us. This is "laying it on" with a vengeance.

TRACING THE FIRST AMERICAN

Scientists Go Back Many Thousands of Years to Find Out the Real Facts About Him.

Several scientific investigators agree that the Indian as we know him is a comparatively late comer. Whether he arrived by way of Alaska from Asia may never be discovered, but the relics of his civilization are believed to date back not more than a few thousand years at most. There is much evidence on the other hand to indicate that men lived in North America at the close of the ice age and perhaps during the glacial period. The evidence is found for the most part in the Ohio and Delaware valleys. The rude instruments these men used in their hunting and homes have been found buried deep in gravel which is believed to date back to the close of the ice age. If this be the case men lived in America 10,000 or 15,000 years ago. Some geologists believe that the gravel deposits are considerably older. How these men found their way to America in remote antiquity, how much of the land they occupied and where they disappeared are perhaps the most fascinating problems in American archeology. The patient investigations of many trained scientists are carrying us every day nearer the answer.—Boys' Life.

NEEDED FOR FISH HATCHERY

Plan on Foot to Preserve Helgoland Harbor for Most Important Experimental Work.

If the plan to destroy Helgoland harbor is carried out it probably will mean the end of one of the most valuable fish hatcheries in the world. An appeal has been made to the American legation at Stockholm by Professor Petterson, chairman of the council of the Society for the Study of Sea Life, to help the society preserve the Helgoland hatchery where years of experimental work have been carried out with important results for the food markets of the world. Professor Petterson says there is a peculiar quality in the water of Helgoland harbor making it invaluable as a place for the study of the growth of certain kinds of sea fish which can live only in this water. The society believes that the allied governments should be able to complete the destruction of the island and its fortifications without damaging the hatchery. It is expected that a commission will be named to see that protection is given to the experimental waters.
